Dear Valued Supplier:

I am excited to inform you that KLA-Tencor is now operating under the brand name KLA. We are rebranding ourselves to align with recent and ongoing changes within our company and the industries we are serving:

- While our core front-end semiconductor and packaging equipment will remain at the heart of our company, our company's scope is growing;
- Articulating our vision will benefit current and prospective employees, reflecting our diverse, inclusive global workforce; and
- We're celebrating the impact of our collaborative work on the progress of humankind.

You can learn more about our vision for the new KLA at www.kla.com/vision.

Even though you will begin to receive purchase orders from KLA, showing the new logo, we plan to continue to operate under our KLA-Tencor Corporation registration until we complete the name change, on or around July 1, 2019. At that time, we will officially change our name to KLA Corporation. There is no impact to existing business and contract agreements and no change to new business transactions during this transition period. We will work with you over the coming months to prepare for the transition to the new corporate registration on July 1, 2019.

We appreciate your continued support and highly value the contributions that the supply chain makes to our success. If you have any questions, please contact your Supply Chain Manager or your buyer.

Best regards,
